

THE GLOW OF HEALTH

Real estate sales director Justin Quek turns to Imedeen for maintaining a healthy and radiant complexion

What I like about Imedeen?

It really doesn't get easier. All I need to do is pop a couple of pills after breakfast. And knowing that they are made from all-natural ingredients that are formulated to keep my skin healthy gives me full confidence in making it a part of my daily dietary supplement.

As a real estate agent, Justin Quek works at the front lines of a fast-paced business. His days are filled with meeting prospective home buyers and negotiating transactions on behalf of their clients. To succeed in this cut-throat business, Quek needs more than a warm personality, excellent communication skills, and comprehensive client canvassing strategies. He needs to inspire confidence in potential clients with his appearance. And with a seven-day work week and long working hours, he needs a grooming routine that is quick and effective.

What are your grooming habits?

Grooming is definitely not a habit but a regime for me. I try to be disciplined with just cleansing my face in the morning and night and slapping on some moisturiser after. I am quite the slacker and already find this two-step process a chore, so less is best for me at any time when it comes to a grooming regime.

How important is it for you to look good on the job?

In this business, appearance is important. I need to look bright and ready, and I need my clients to see that too. I take pride in my image. It is absolutely important to me that I put my best face forward. First impression is crucial because you don't always get second chances.

How has Imedeen man.age.ment improved your complexion?

I noticed that my skin looks firmer and more radiant. My skin feels more hydrated and supple. It is like having a good night of rest when I usually have much less than eight hours of sleep a night.

What is your reaction after seeing results from using Imedeen?

I am really pleased, and surprised, at the result. I didn't think something as simple as taking a couple of pills a day can make such a difference on my skin. I have dipped into different pots of moisturisers before, but none has given me the result and convenience that Imedeen has.

Has anyone else noticed the difference?

My friends did notice the improvement in my skin and asked how I did it. Those who have not heard of Imedeen man.age.ment thought it was some sort of facial treatment.

Skincare for men - in a tablet

IMEDEEN man.age.ment improves men's skin performance from within. The anti-ageing skincare works in the dermal layer of skin where moisturizers and balms cannot reach. Its patented ingredients of LycoPhence GS Forte™ and Marine Complex™ work in synergy to enhance skin quality. Two tablets a day give you smooth, healthy looking skin in as early as 90 days.
